Eight roads to romance (Detroit Free Press)

Every romantic getaway has one goal. "No dog, no children, no BlackBerry," says Lynnette Parkhill, director of marketing at the Royal Park Hotel in Rochester. "People want a break from their life." Of course, it does not hurt if the break also includes thick terry bathrobes, cool marble bathrooms and a giant bed with silky sheets.

As violence wanes in Kashmir, interest of Bollywood is piqued (International Herald Tribune)

An uprising in 1989 in Kashmir put an end to Bollywood's romance with the region. But the tide may be turning, and tourism officials hope that where actors go, tourists will follow.
